

READ HERE WHAT'S AT THE STATE FAIR

RACING

Nobody in New Mexico ever saw more or better racing than will be a feature of the coming state fair. With the large amount of prize money offered it was a comparatively easy matter to secure all the entries needed to assure a successful meet. For the first time in history every race filled, and this in a year when other race meets have been going by the board.

FIREWORKS

The fireworks were the hit of the fair last year. "The best feature of the fair," many people called them. This year a much larger sum has been allotted to this feature and some startling new styles of pyrotechnic are to be displayed. The fireworks alone are worth all the season ticket cost.

MUSIC

Four bands are to be at the fair. At least one of them will compare favorably with any ever heard at the fair. They are the Albuquerque band, Fred K. Ellis, bandmaster; the Albuquerque Indian school band, the Pueblo Bonito Indian school band, the Deming Boys' and Girls' band.

THE KILLARNEYS

And Rita Rich. This organization is high-class Irish amateur made up of nine girls, who sing and play Irish melodies in a way to tear the heart-strings or enjole the laughs from the most unwilling. They are to appear at the fair grounds each afternoon and evening in solos and concerted numbers and will give three concerts at the Crystal theater.

DAYLIGHT FIREWORKS

Those who never have seen daylight fireworks have a pleasant surprise in store at the coming fair. Artistic and beautiful designs produced in daylight—by pyrotechnics—is enough to make the average man spend at least one afternoon at the fair even were there no other attractions. See them. They are worth while.

INDIAN SPORTS

Some things that never have been seen at a state fair in this state or anywhere else. Jackrabbit races, squaw races on boughs, a relay race between four different tribes, roping horses on foot, novelty races of several kinds. Something new, something worth seeing, is promised the public in these Indian sports.

BOXING BOUT

C. H. Kane and Battling Torrence are to fight ten rounds Thursday night of fair week at the Crystal theater. There will be some smashing good preliminaries and a good card of genuine boxing is offered the fans.

THE HOSPITALITY BALL

Introduced last year, this feature will be under the direction of the same man who made it a success last year, Capt. J. H. Toulouse. The Booster orchestra has been engaged for this and the arbor will be specially decorated for it. This is the time Albuquerque gets acquainted with her guests. It will be held Monday night.

DAYLIGHT FIREWORKS AND ENOUGH OTHERS TO GIVE A THRILL EVERY MINUTE!

CAPTAIN HARDY

The Peters Cartridge company's expert, has appeared at dozens of the state fairs in expert rifle, pistol and shotgun exhibitions. He will do things with a rifle which most people would call impossible and will appear each afternoon at the fair grounds, shooting silhouettes, doing difficult mirror shots and other interesting feats.

PATRICK & FRANCISCO

This is a team of the cleverest acrobats that ever appeared at a fair. They played 48 consecutive weeks at the Hippodrome in New York. That guarantees the quality of their act and its entertaining value. Nut sed.

PREPAREDNESS PARADE

An interesting pageant of civic and fraternal organizations, business concerns' display, and the like all based on the preparedness idea. One hundred dollars each for the best organization and business house display, with $50 as a second prize in each class.

COWBOY SPORTS

Some real cowboy sports by real cowboys. Twenty-five of the best of the men who appeared at the Cowboy's Reunion at Las Vegas are to participate in this. A special saddle made by S. D. Myers, of Sweetwater, Tex., and other prizes are offered.

To Those Who Subscribed

Your subscription was due September 1, or earlier. Maybe you paid. If not, do so at once. It costs money to send a collector around three or four times to get your check. That money need not be spent, if you will do your share and pay up like a loyal citizen of the city and state.

We are not using hard words, but we want that money. Come across promptly and save the time, worry and the employment of a collector. If your check isn't in the mail tomorrow morning we will have to hire one.

THE CARNIVAL

Wednesday night of fair week the first street masquerade ball ever held in Albuquerque will be the principal event. As in former years the state fair visitors masked and held high carnival, so this year the fair management has arranged for them to dance and let the carnival spirit reign. Yes, confetti will be in order.

THE MONTEZUMA BALL

The state's pinnacle of social glory, will be held in the Alvarado hotel. Some interesting surprises in the way of programs, unique lighting effects and decorations are to be given those who attend.

THREE NIGHTS DOWNTOWN

Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights there will be no program at the fair grounds. Instead there will be a street fair downtown, with a Ferris wheel, merry-go-rounds, a number of shows and other concessions in full blast.

POLITICS

In this year of presidential politics, the state fair has borrowed a custom for long extant in the northwest and has called on the Democratic and Republican national committees to send some speakers of national repute to address the crowd the first day of the fair. The names of the speakers chosen will be announced soon. They are to speak Monday afternoon.
